LOS SONIDOS EN EL HUASTECO QUE SON DISTINTOS A LOS DEL ESPAÑOL

La letra c' se distingue de c en las palabras c'alam calabaza, y calam mañana, c'uajchix uno que ocupa la casa de otra persona, y cuajchix uno que golpea.

La diferencia entre ch' y ch se oye en las palabras ch'ichab peine, y chich viene.

Se distingue t' de t en t'ocat limpio, y tocat no más.

El sonido ts' se distingue de ts en ts'ajib molcajete, y tsajib oate.

En las palabras q'uithim calentito, y quithib arena, las emisiones de voz son diferentes q' y q.

En las palabras tam entonces, y tham nariz, se puede oír la diferencia entre t y th.

El sonido de la letra x como en uxum mujer, es semejante al que se encuentra en unas palabras de origen náhuatl, como en ixtle.

La letra ' indica un sonido que consiste en una clausura de la laringe. La importancia de este solo cambio aparece en los pares: jo' brazada, y joj garza, c'ua'chix remendón, y c'uajchix uno que ocupa la casa de otra persona.

Las vocales tienen, a veces, un sonido prolongado que no está indicado en el alfabeto, y se puede reconocer por el contexto. Por ejemplo, la palabra thuchum suspirando, tiene la vocal u prolongada en la primera sílaba. Para escribir la palabra escribiendo se usan las mismas letras, pero el sonido en la misma sílaba es sin prolongación. In alhua' su bondad, tiene la vocal a prolongada y con acento en la última sílaba. Para escribir soy bueno se usan las mismas letras, pero la a de la última sílaba es sin prolongación y el acento cambia a la primera sílaba de alhua'.
